习近平主席访问沙特阿拉伯

(Xí Jìnpíng zhǔxí fǎngwèn shātè ālābó)

China's President Xi Jinping arrived in Riyadh as part of a three-day visit in response to the kind invitation of the custodian of the Two Holy Mosques, King Salman bin Abdulaziz Al-Saud.

President Xi will attend a Saudi-Chinese summit in the Kingdom, which will be headed by King Salman, and will also see the participation of Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman. During his visit, the Chinese President will attend the Riyadh Gulf-China Summit for Cooperation and Development, and the Riyadh Arab-China Summit for Cooperation and Development (Arab News). In a telephone conversation on April 15th 2022, with President Xi, Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman said, "China is an important comprehensive strategic partner of Saudi Arabia." (MOFA, PRC). Saudi Arabia is, at present, China's largest trading partner in the Middle East and North Africa region and is also its top global supplier of crude oil.

I am profoundly honored to work in these two great nations for significant years of my life, gaining experience and making friends along the way.

AN INTRAVENOUS THERAPY TRAINING

Dr. Jay "Qais" Ablao

Department of Nursing

Faculty of Applied Medical Sciences

University of Tabuk

Tel: 56 724 7978; E.Mail: jablao@ut.edu.sa

The two-day intravenous (IV) therapy webinar-workshop is a collaborative effort of the Sigma Alpha Beta Kappa Chapter and the Department of Nursing, Faculty of Applied Medical Sciences, University of Tabuk.

The said event held on 02 & 03 November, 2022 attended by a total of 55 participants composed of nurses and nursing students. The course intends to enhance the participants' knowledge, skills, and practice to safely manage the care of patients receiving IV therapy.

The efforts of Dr. Maidaah Algandi, President of Sigma Alpha Beta Kappa Chapter and Head of Nursing Department, the speakers of the seminar and Dr. Abdullah Adhafri, who assisted in getting the 8 CME from the Saudi Commission for Health Specialties are noteworthy.

The event started with a welcome remarks and overview of the program from Dr. Jay "Qais" N. Ablao. This was followed by the discussion of the introductory concepts on the anatomy and physiology of the circulatory system from Dr. Analita Gonzales, the role of fluids and electrolytes in the maintenance of homeostasis and the different fluid and electrolyte imbalances were discussed by Dr. Mathar Mohideen, the MOH IVT Policies and lifespan considerations in IVT were discussed by Dr. Jesusa Gutierrez, the common complications and documentation of IV and blood transfusion therapy were discussed by Ms. Khawla Dauod, the steps in starting, maintaining and discontinuing IV therapy were discussed by Ms. Yolanda Cabaltica and the demonstration of blood transfusion with video presentation was presented and discussed by Ms. Eloisa Bonus.

The second day was started with a recapitulation of the first day activities followed by guided practice after the demonstration. The participants performed the steps in Starting, Maintaining & Discontinuing IV and blood transfusion therapy based on a client scenario during the practical examination utilizing the Objective Structured Clinical Examination (OSCE) approach.

In addition, a post-activity evaluation tool was given to assess if their needs were met. This evaluation also gives an idea on how well the activity has achieved its objectives.

The Department of Nursing, Faculty of Applied Medical Sciences, University of Tabuk's with the Sigma Alpha Beta Kappa Chapter leadership is really making history by extending its services to the community where it belongs. This could set off another worthwhile activity that will influence the lives of the healthcare professionals.
