

FINANCIAL REPORTS

The University of Tabuk demonstrates institutional transparency and accountability by publishing a comprehensive Annual Report each year. This report is formally reviewed and approved by the University Council of the University of Tabuk, which serves as the highest administrative authority responsible for overseeing the university's academic, administrative, and financial affairs. Following official approval, the report is made publicly available as part of the university's commitment to transparency and good governance.

Each annual report includes a dedicated section addressing the university's financial and administrative affairs, providing an overview of financial management, budget utilization, operational expenditures, and key administrative activities for the reporting year. This ensures that stakeholders—including students, staff, government authorities, and the broader community—can access information related to the institution's financial operations and institutional performance.

For example, the Seventeenth Annual Report of the University of Tabuk contains Chapter Five: Financial and Administrative Affairs, which presents detailed information regarding financial and administrative activities during the reporting period (pp. 146-151). This section highlights the university's financial governance, expenditure management, and administrative performance within the broader institutional framework.

An additional example can be found in the Sixteenth Annual Report of the University of Tabuk, which also includes a dedicated section addressing the university's financial and administrative performance. In this report, the section titled "Administrative and Financial Affairs" (pp. 129-142) provides an overview of the university's financial management, administrative operations, and institutional support services during the reporting year. The section outlines key aspects of budget management, operational expenditures, and administrative developments that support the university's academic and institutional activities. As with other annual reports, this document is prepared as part of the university's official reporting framework and is published following review and approval by the University Council of the University of Tabuk, reinforcing the institution's commitment to transparency, accountability, and responsible financial governance.

The annual publication of these reports reflects the university's adherence to principles of institutional transparency, accountability, and effective financial oversight, while also providing documented evidence of financial and administrative operations in accordance with national regulations governing higher education institutions in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Stakeholders and members of the public can access the University of Tabuk's annual reports through the dedicated Annual Reports section available on the official website of the University of Tabuk. This webpage provides a collection of the university's published annual reports, enabling transparent access to institutional information, including academic, administrative, and financial performance across different reporting years. Through this platform, interested parties can review previously issued reports and obtain detailed insights into the university's financial and operational activities.

The University of Tabuk is committed to promoting transparency and recognizing research excellence by publicly announcing research groups and researchers who receive competitive research funding. The university regularly publishes official news and announcements highlighting research teams that have secured external research grants, including details of the funding source and the awarded projects. For example, the university publicly congratulated a research team for winning a competitive research grant provided by the Research, Development and Innovation Authority during the first cycle of 2024 under the Saudi Initiative for Applied and Technological Research. Such announcements demonstrate the university's commitment to supporting research activities, celebrating the achievements of its researchers, and informing the academic community and the public about externally funded research projects and their associated funding opportunities.
