Unit manager

Social responsibility is an individual duty before it is an institutional duty. Each one of us must be aware of his precise and true role in the cycle of this society and nation, the nation that it shades and bestows with its bounties. It looks at it with the eye of what the individual must do before he looks with the eye of entitlement. Societies and civilizations will not be built except when each of us is aware of this responsibility that lies upon him.

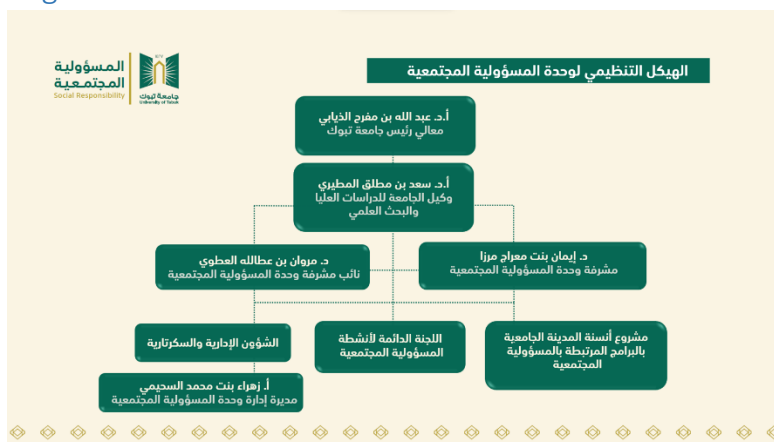

The vision of our beloved Kingdom (Vision 2030) came to embody for us many meanings that had escaped our minds. It came to restore the balance of our lives in looking at things. It came to make us feel our hoped-for role towards our societal responsibility, individually and as a society, so many programs were launched from it that flow into this flowing river. Which remains and lasts even if generations change and change, including, for example, the qualitative shift in codifying many of the regulations and systems that regulate the affairs of individuals within society, and those successive shifts when our Kingdom launched a program concerned with and concerned with the quality of life of the Saudi citizen.

The role of activating social responsibility in the regions came to show the real role, and what educational and service governmental institutions must do regarding their responsibilities to society and individuals, so that it will be a good start, and a good building block to be followed by many projects and recommendations that achieve the goals of social responsibility, and we have reached tangible and real results on the ground.

This effort would not have been possible without people standing up to support it. I particularly mention His Excellency the President of the University of Tabuk, His Excellency Professor: Abdullah bin Mufarreh Al-Dhiyebi, who directed the establishment of the unit to be the university's gateway to society.

<https://www.ut.edu.sa/ar/Faculties/Medicine/med-newsletter/Documents/VOL-7/MET%20Vol%207%20Iss%209.pdf#search=climate%20action>

DUPHAT is an international conference that takes place annually in Dubai, United Arab Emirates (UAE). It features world-renowned speakers, such as pharmaceutical industry leaders, policy makers, and physicians, as well as key information about the latest developments in medicine. From presentations about the latest pharmacological research and novel pharmaceutical solutions to informative seminars and interactive discussions, DUPHAT offers something for everyone.

Attending the DUPHAT Conference, the premier pharmaceuticals conference in the Middle East, is an experience that should not be missed by any aspiring pharmacy student. As one of the most prestigious and interactive conferences in the world, DUPHAT offers unparalleled opportunities to learn, network, and make important connections. Every year, pharmacy students from around the world flock to the conference in hopes of gaining insight on the ever-evolving medical landscape. DUPHAT offers an exceptional opportunity for pharmacy students to participate in a scientific poster presentations. It begins by submitting an abstract of the topic to be presented, these abstracts are evaluated and then those who are accepted will receive an acceptance email with the details to complete the registration by paying the fees and the roles for the poster to be presented. The conference is held for 3 days in a row, for last year's DUPHAT it was held in Dubai from 10-12 of January. And each student will be evaluated for his/her poster at any day of these 3 days. At the end of day 3, the evaluators will decide the winners, 5 places in each category.

Educational conferences like DUPHAT are a great opportunity to know the traditions of other countries around the globe. Visiting Dubai was one of the most interesting experiences that we've ever done, the architecture there is eye-catching. Besides the architecture, the people there were so nice and generous. It is not only Dubai that we discovered. As we mentioned earlier there were students from all over the world, they gave us a glance at their countries and traditions. Exposure to different scholars from around the world offers the chance to learn from a diverse worldwide group of specialists. This helps us comprehend various cultures and methods of learning better. For instance, we personally attend a presentation given by a professor from Florida's Nova Southeastern University about how to publish our research. A student's perspective will widen as a result of interacting with other students from different countries. They will learn to respect and comprehend various cultures through this. We come across a group of students from South Korea who've been participating in DUPHAT, this was helpful and contributes to our growing appreciation of the cultural variety and comprehension of different worldviews.
